

Escape Sequences

It is a sequence of characters starting with a backslash, and it doesn't represent itself when used inside string literal.

Alarm or Beep

It produces a beep sound

```
\a
```

Backspace

It adds a backspace

```
\b
```

Form feed

```
\f
```

Newline

Newline Character

```
\n
```

Carriage return

```
\r
```

Tab

It gives a tab space

```
\t
```

Backslash

It adds a backslash

```
\\
```

Single quote

It adds a single quotation mark

```
\'
```

Question mark

It adds a question mark

```
\?
```

Octal No.

It represents the value of an octal number

```
\nnn
```

Hexadecimal No.

It represents the value of a hexadecimal number

```
\xhh
```

Null

The null character is usually used to terminate a string

```
\0
```